Perkins Says Standard Oil Decision Is a "Red Flag and Danger Signal."

INDUSTRY CANNOT GO ON UNDER SUCH CONDITIONS

Even Price Regulations, He Declares, Would Be Better.

BUSINESS WORLD IN FEAR

Denies That Bankers Brought on Panic of 1907, or That Morgan & Co. Rule in the Financial World.

George W. Perkins, the financier, told the Stanley steel committee of inquiry today that the dissolution by the government of the Standard Oil Company, should serve as a "red flag and danger signal" to every corporation in the United States.

He declared corporations could not continue successfully under the present conditions of the laws.

Danger in Present Conditions.

The government execution of present laws was the fear of all corporations, and the Standard Oil dissolution served as a warning to every corporation in the country.

Though he did not agree with Judge Gary that there should be government regulation of prices, Mr. Perkins urged that something should be done to revise the laws regulating corporations.

Plan to Prevent Panic.

Mr. Perkins was asked by Mr. Gardner if he believed the currency system of the country could be revised so as to prevent a situation such as existed in the panic of 1907 when the Standard Oil Company was dissolved.

Books of Steel Companies.

Before Mr. Perkins took the witness stand a conference was held between Attorney Lindabury, counsel for the steel corporation, and Representative Stanley of Kentucky, chairman of the committee.

Senate Committee's Inquiry.

Representative Bartlett of Georgia opened the examination of Mr. Perkins on matters relating to the purchase of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company.

SHED COATS IN PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, August 10.—(Shirley) statesmen made an appearance for the first time in the house of commons yesterday afternoon. The heat intense, the members of the cabinet were seen in the shade and in the sun.

Antiquities by the Ton.

NEW YORK, August 10.—Thirty-five tons of antiquities dug from the ruins of several ancient Egyptian cities are being unloaded here today from a German freighter. The shipment is consigned to the Metropolitan Museum of Art and represents several years' work on the part of an American expedition of five scientists.

WAITER WAS FOREIGN OFFICER

American Soldier Is Offered $25,000 for Plans of Corregidor Island Defenses.

Startling evidence of the pernicious activity of foreign spies in the possession of the army general staff, which accounts for the serious consideration that is now being given to the most trifling report of a spy, is disclosed by the discovery of a waiter in the Philippines. Some of these incidents are of comparatively recent date, and it was upon the submission of such information to a secret session of the judiciary committee of the House that legislation was secured at the last session of Congress providing for the severe punishment of spies in time of peace.

Foreign Officer in Disguise.

A waiter in a Seattle hotel was found to be a foreign officer in disguise, possessing many drawings and notes he had made of the Pacific coast defenses.
